President Evans Non Response Upsets Community

Harry Rhubottom has spoken out that many in the Black community are voicing concerns that California State University, San Bernardino President Dr. Anthony Evans has not been available for comment during the recent flap over Tom Metzger.

Tom Metzger was invited by a graduate student Michael DeMayo to come for a forum with the students. The students objected to Metzger. Dean Aubrey Bonnett wrote the directive as head of the Social Science Department that Metzger would pose a safety hazard.

Rhubottom said, "I think they have quite a few racists at Cal State, but it starts at the top and filters down. Tony won't talk to any Black person. He doesn't want to solve the situation."

"I gave Evans a list with eight well respected leader's names and asked him to call and let them know where he stands on the volatile issue. He didn't call any of them," he said.

Rhubottom said he feels the problem with Cal State is racism because there are no Black Vice Presidents and only two Hispanics. "One sharp man they let go was Sidney Ribeau," (who is now a vice president at Cal Poly Pomona.)

Rhubottom said Ribeau is doing well at Cal Poly. "Why couldn't they [Cal State] make him a Vice President?"

Ballard Responds To Sun Editorial Editor's Request

Al Ballard, a retired San Bernardino fireman and businessman recently (January 29) responded to the San Bernardino County Sun Editorial Editor's request for a short description on what distinguishes his candidacy for Mayor of San Bernardino from that of his opponents in the March 2, 1993 election.

Al Ballard stated: "The major difference between my opponents and myself is that I have successfully served three terms (1965-1971) as Mayor. That means I am the only candidate that has negotiated labor contracts; put balanced budgets together and had them enacted; organized and directed the executive bureaucracy; designed joint ventures between the private sector and different governmental agencies; managed economic development projects; directed emergency relief efforts during fires, floods and civil disturbances; built broad community support for municipal projects; created jobs in the private sector; worked cooperatively with federal, state and other local officials; and opened our city government to the active participation by all the citizens of our community."

have known and worked with seven out of the other nine candidates for mayor during the past forty-five years, I do not believe that they have the necessary life experience, practical business and successful governmental commitment, nor the necessary intestinal fortitude required to lead our city out of the disastrous situation in which we find ourselves. Many of my opponents have contributed to the very problems that all our citizens face each and every day."

Students At Claremont Seize Building

▲ Students demands met, they give up building at 1:30 am Wednesday morning.

Close to 150 students representing the Claremont Colleges, barricaded themselves in an administration building on Monday, put up signs, that said, "THIS BUILDING IS CLOSED DUE TO RACISM" and did not come out until Wednesday morning at approximately 1:30 am., after all but one of their demands were met.

Apparently, they became upset when a part-time English Department candidate, Sue Houchins, who is African American, was excluded from the search, in a new position.

The Pomona College position, in English and Black Studies will be decided on March 1, 1993, according to Nena Ellerman, spokesperson.

The search was a highly confidential matter and Ellerman said it was not true that she was left out.

The five colleges which make up Claremont Colleges are separate. Each has its own Board of Trustees, faculty, administration and each college is responding individually to the student's demands. There are some intercollegiate joint programs that each of the schools share and they are, Black Studies, Chicano and Women Studies.

"Some colleges agreed, some did not," Ellerman told Black Voice News. Before releasing the building, the students negotiated for Amnesty and got it.

Student Nara Boone, an African-American, feels that there are not enough African-American professors and she is not receiving a full education at Scripps College, one of the five. "Professors of color are the only professors that can really relate to students of color," Boone said. "They are the only ones that can effectively teach us about what is going on in society and the world as far as ethnicity is concerned. Without their presence on campus I feel as though we are being robbed of the ability to learn about our heritage."

The administration signed a list of student demands.

Wife Tells Of Police Abuse

▲ Open letter to: Chief of Police City of San Bernardino San Bernardino, CA

This letter is submitted as a complaint at this point, against the arresting officers of my husband, Natchie Davis on Sunday, December 20, 1992 at my home. My children and I witnessed in person, what was another Rodney King beating, only this time it was inside my apartment with my children watching, and without the benefit of a video camera.

Five carloads of police officers converged on my apartment between the hours of 5 and 6 pm. They all pounced on my patio with guns drawn and came into my home. Natchie tried to make a run for the door, but they all jumped on him and commenced to beat him with their nightsticks. I told them they did not have to beat him in this manner as they already had him on the ground and had full control of the situation. They beat him on all parts of his body and his head, and he was bleeding all over the floor. When I made the statement to the one officer who was beating him, the other officer clicked his gun and said to me "move". One of the other officers made a statement to me that was totally uncalled for and totally unnecessary, and I quote, "These children here don't stand a chance with parents like you and Natchie. This is a person who knows absolutely nothing about me and has never seen me before, and immediately he passed judgement on me as a person and as a mother, "character assassination" without prior knowledge.

And they said to my daughter, "now tell your grandmother Continued On B-8 about this". And I am sure this officer knew that Mrs. Macon was deceased. But to say this to a nine year old who was still suffering the loss of her grandmother was unforgivable and certainly had nothing to do with their presence in my home.

I learned today that my husband had to have a number of stitches on his head where your officers had beat him. Was this necessary in making an arrest. Would you say this was above and beyond measures needed? Is this the way all arrests are handled or do you

Estrada Our Choice For Mayor of San Bernardino

If the City of San Bernardino is to reach its fullest potential we must elect city officials with the demonstrated ability to work together for the common good.

For many years the leadership has projected a non cooperative, combative attitude that divides versus bringing a community together.

We believe that Esther Estrada has attempted on most issue to be a consensus builder for the common good of the entire community and region.

The issues of ethnic diversity, law enforcement, business, education, environment, rich, middle class, poor, federal, state and county are volatile and need leadership that brings people together.

Esther has the experience of the grassroots organizer and the discipline of a professional. She gained experience through her work with the Mexican American Legal Defense Fund, management of the Casa Romona, Norton Reuse Committee, which she co-chaired until recently, when Mayor Holcomb and Councilman Hernandez orchestrated her removal. The Council voted to replace her. The plan backfired when the City of San Bernardino lost the entire leadership.

Esther Estrada has been there for the Black senior citizens, when no one else would come to their rescue. The Utility Center, was saved because Estrada spoke out. Poor people who need to talk to a city representative, can call on Estrada. Developers who need help on their projects, can call on Estrada. She goes the extra mile to help constituents regardless of their station in life. She is truly a servant of the people.

Estrada is the leader out in front of the pack. On March 2, we recommend Estrada for Mayor of San Bernardino.

Who Clinton Owes

Tony Brown

President Bill Clinton is busy breaking most of his campaign pledges. He is rejecting his promise of a middle-class tax cut, hedging on his promise to reduce the White House staff, postponing action on the gay ban to military service and adopting George Bush's anti-Haitian immigration ruling.

Of course, he does not have to break his promise to Black people because he made none.

Other than the wealthy Blacks in his cabinet and well-educated Black appointees, the total Black community is not in line for any specific benefits. In a way, Slick Willie has a slicker approach to ignoring Blacks than did George Bush.

I wrote in The Wall Street Journal in August 1991 that cultural diversity is the foundation of our economic competitiveness and warned the Republican Party that the intentional exclusion of Blacks is a result of the so-called "Southern Strategy" to win the White vote was an economic hazard and an ill-political omen. "White suburbanites could defect from the Republican fold if the party becomes stigmatized as racist," I predicted.

After the 1992 Republican national convention in Houston, the party of emancipation was openly called "divisive," "mean-spirited" and "intolerant," as well as "racist," and many suburbanites, working women, gays, pro-choice advocates, Jews, even some moderate WASP Republicans came to feel as unwelcome as most Blacks. Recently, pollsters told the nation's GOP governors that voters have added "narrow-minded" and "restrictive" to the image of Republicans.

But politically, exclusion is costly. One opinion poll prior to the election showed Clinton and Bush in a statistical tie (44% to 43% respectively) for the White vote. However, Clinton's entire 12-point nationwide lead was the result of over 90% Black support.

An anti-Republican Black vote, accounting for between 18% to 50% of Clinton's total in strategic Electoral College states where the White vote was close, gave Clinton the presidency. That strategic advantage made it possible for Clinton to become President with the majority of votes in only his home state of Arkansas, less than a quarter of those eligible to vote and only 39% of the White vote.

With only 20% of the Black vote, Bush would have won. No matter what some Republicans personally think of Black people, it's just not smart politics to ignore a significant voting bloc.

A Republican Party of inclusion and empowerment would neither have lost 83% of the Black vote nor have driven middle-of-the-road suburban voters, working women and young people away with a divisive social agenda, framed by an unrepresentative minority that controlled over half of the delegates at its 1992 national convention. Will the GOP read the times and voluntarily reform itself or stubbornly persist in its exclusionary dogma, fragment into factions and become obsolete as a vital political force? And will it recognize diversity as a strength and a national asset and fiscal responsibility as its principle tenet? Information on the Buy Freedom 900 Network: 212-575-2389. Klan No-Show Was Right Decision

BY DR. MILDRED DALTON HENRY

I offer an opposing view to the editorial "Metzger no-show a blow to free speech" in the January 27 issue of The SUN. The editor says it is "extremely distressing that viewpoints Metzger typically expresses continue to draw far too great a following," and yet the writer advocates providing a forum to draw and even greater following to Tom Metzger's racist, hate-advocating ideas.

Those ideas "cannot be freely exchanged at university forums without generating concerns about security" because those of us who are the objects of Metzger's inflammatory hate-baiting, violence-advocating rhetoric will no longer sit quietly by while racists spew their poison under the guise of free speech.

The words quoted by 19th century Robert Ingersoll are lofty theoretical concepts, however, history has proven that racists do not believe that "they are superior who have the best heart, the best brain." Apparently, white supremacists believe that only white people have superior hearts and brain. So, let's talk 20th century reality rather than 19th century theory.

The concern about security was legitimate, and was not only raised by "various student groups." Fellow faculty members, staff, students and community residents expressed alarm that the University would legitimize a professed hate-monger. With reference to Metzger's statement that "every idea should be out there", the newspapers, TV, radio, talk shows, and other media provide sufficient coverage of his hate messages. Cal State, San Bernardino is to be commended for denying a forum for devious, hate-filled principles that are contrary to all for which America stands.

The scheduled appearance of the Ku Klux Klan leader, Tom Metzger, on the campus of California State University at San Bernardino (CSUSB), was an insult and affront to all of us who, for years, have worked tirelessly to teach and model respect for the diversity of peoples and cultures.

I have taught MultiCultural Counseling at California State University at-San Bernardino (CSUSB) for nine years, and advocated the principles of respect for the diversity of ALL of our citizens. The students and I have stressed tolerance, equity, freedom from persecution, and freedom from the threat of violence solely because of the color of one's skin - or other factors over which one has no control. Additionally, all campus policies stress non-discrimination and equity. To sponsor a racist, hate-mongering, white supremacist advocate of violence is contradictory to campus policy.

Under the "GUISE" of "freedom of speech" we proposed to sponsor and legitimize an avowed racist, self-proclaimed white supremacist, advocate of violence, at CSUSB, an institution of "higher learning". To legitimize Metzger is to defame the honor, and desecrate the memory of the millions of brave individuals who have died defending equity, human rights, and freedom from violence - not only in America, but around the world.

Under the guise of freedom of speech and the First Amendment, we have seen a rise in hate messages on the airways, hate crimes in the streets, and increased hate-related violence in our society. Educational institutions should not provide a forum and support system for the advocacy of racial hatred.

If some CSUSB students and faculty wished to discuss discrimination, there are enough students, faculty and staff on this campus, with personal experiences to enlighten anyone seeking truth. I could share, for instance, how it felt to see my family cotton gin, store, and other farm buildings go up in flames set by Klan members. We were burned out three times. I can share the expressed feelings of my mother who had to remain awake nights with a whistle around her neck, and a gun on a nearby table, to protect her family. I can share how my father laboriously worked days trying to achieve his "American dream", and stayed awake nights trying to protect that dream from violent racists.

The racist mentality has not ceased. Klan proponents, for instance, have just added a new three-piece suit to the hood and white sheet. Now the white supremacists are sophisticatedly entrenched in penthouses, in White House conference rooms, at every level of government, in educational hierarchies, in the corporate world, on talk shows, and in all avenues of the news media. Now the "sheet" to hide behind has become "freedom of speech". Surely the authors of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, who sought freedom from persecution did not intend their labors would be used to shield individuals advocating suppression and violence.

The whole CSUSB-Metzger scenario reminds me of a child playing with matches in a room filled with dynamite. The sponsors of Metzger, and those supporting his appearance, apparently know absolutely nothing about "the struggle". They are unaware of the deep-seated emotions of persons who "remember when." I assure you that the emotions of us involved in "the struggle" are still raw, and powder-keg dry. White supremacy principles cannot, and will not, be tolerated under the guise of "freedom of speech", the First Amendment or any other warped interpretation of this nation's great documents.

It appears that our efforts will be better spent educating our students. For instance, the Chronical (student newspaper) writer who compared the NAACP to the Ku Klux Klan is totally ignorant of the history of these organizations. The NAACP has always advocated non-violent, peaceful protests. In fact, this conciliatory stance has created much friction with the more radical youthful splinter groups.

The laws of this land were written and designed by a relatively small group of men who proclaimed the new nation was founded on the principle of "liberty and justice for all." A noble goal. The "all" was not intended to encompass only the White Anglo Saxon Male.

Those who call this a "white man's country" are ignorant of the facts. For instance, African-Americans arrived in this country before the Mayflower, and not as slaves. We crossed the Delaware with George Washington in 1776, and have fought in every major battle for this country, including Trenton, Princeton, Yorktown, Lexington, Concord, Bunker Hill, Charlestown, Valley Forge, White Plains, World Wars I and II, Korea, Vietnam, and the Persian Gulf War. Currently, we are in Somalia, and around the world, protecting American interests and international peace.

The efforts of African-Americans save the lives of racists every minute as they stop at traffic lights, receive blood plasma, receive open heart surgery, and partake of other inventions and activities of people of color. We cannot and will not dishonor those who protect us by legitimizing racial hatred and divisiveness here at home.

We verbalize non-violence, yet we teach violence via television. We verbalize morality, yet, the TV is filled with unmitigated sex, and we wonder why we have so many children having children. We teach respect for diversity, yet we provide forums for hate mongers.

If we are to remain a nation of diversity, interpretations of "freedom of speech" and protection under the First Amendment MUST be tempered with common sense. The CSUSB decision to withdraw the invitation to Tom Metzger, Ku Klux Klan leader, WAS the right decision.

WOMEN AND ALCOHOL

Dear Dr. Levister: I want to get pregnant. What is the true story about alcohol and its effect on the baby, if any? Concerned.

Dear Concerned: Alcohol industry liquor ads continue to hitch a ride on women's quest for equality. "If a woman can work like a man, she can and should drink like a man."

The ads don't tell a woman that ounce for ounce she'll get more intoxicated than a man. Alcohol is more soluble in and is absorbed through body water.

Women are, on the average, smaller than men with more fatty tissue and less body water resulting in higher blood alcohol concentration.

A stomach enzyme that breaks down alcohol before it reaches the blood stream is less active in women than in men. 55 percent of women drink. Women develop cirrhosis (scarring of the liver) at lower levels of alcohol intake than men. Alcohol puts them at increased risk for osteoporosis and potential for broken bones.

Pregnant women who drink heavily risk having babies with fetal alcohol syndrome - characterized by mental retardation, structural defects of the face and limbs, hyperactivity, and heart defects. Because no level of alcohol consumption during pregnancy is known to be safe, pregnant women (as well as women planning pregnancy or having unprotected intercourse) are advised not to drink.

The amount of alcohol that passes into breast milk is smaller than that that crosses the placenta during pregnancy, but the data supports that even a small amount can inhibit motor development in an infant. The idea that drinking beer promotes milk supply and benefits the baby is a myth.

The alcohol industry is aware of this data and continues to push ads targeted for women in general and minority women in particular. Why?

Wise up and don't drink when trying to have a child, during pregnancy or when breast feeding. Outside of these time frames if you choose to drink you must do so in moderation.

Dr. Levister welcomes reader mail concerning their body but regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters. Your letters will be incorporated into the column as space permits. You may direct your letters to Dr. Levister in care of Voice News, P O Box 1581, Riverside, CA 92502.

Home & Body

Eunice Williamson

Question: How can I bake skinless chicken without it drying out?

Answer: You can keep your skinless chicken or fish moist by using a dry coating such as corn or seasoned bread crumbs. It is important to moisten the meat first with egg white, nonfat yogurt, or nonfat milk; then roll in your bread crumbs.

Follow your cookbook instructions for breaded chicken, specifically for the part (leg, thigh, breast) you are cooking.

Question: What is the value of exercise?

Answer: According to Community Nutrition Specialist Dr. Eunice Romero-Gynn, exercise provides benefits for your health. It can...

- Make your heart healthier
- Improve your blood pressure
- Help to prevent diabetes in adults
- Help you lose weight and keep your body fit

Everybody --thin as well as overweight adults and children -- should exercise. People who exercise even a little bit, but regularly, tend to live longer and healthier.

Here are examples of the approximate number of calories you can burn in 30 minutes:

- Sitting -- 50
- House cleaning -- 120
- Walking slow -- 150
- Walking or dancing fast -- 200

The more active you are, the healthier you can be. Burning 200 to 300 extra calories a day, you may lose a half pound of fat per week. If you are not too active, start with about 15 to 30 minutes a week; then increase it to 30 minutes or more several times per week.

DECORATING DEN

Denise Ellison McCarthy
COLOR MAKES THE ROOM

Are all the walls in your house off-white? Are they that way because you want them offwhite, or do you secretly want to make a big color statement, but are afraid it will be overpowering? If so, you're not alone. Many times, a homeowner will turn to the services of a decorator for suggestions, and will often become more daring.

If you're just starting to add color, try using two predominant colors, such as yellow and white, and adding an accent color such as blue or salmon. A rule of thumb is to use 60, 30, 10 proportions of colors. These colors then can be woven throughout the house by way of furniture, walls, window treatments and floor coverings for every room. There should be a common thread of color pulling all the rooms together.

Lifestyle is always an important consideration in choosing colors. Families with small children and pets will find it more practical to select darker colors and fabrics with busy prints that will not show soil or wear.

The configuration of the house may dictate color usage as well. Lighter pastel colors can make a small, dark room appear more spacious, while darker, richer colors can lend a warm cozy feeling to a large room or den. What's more, active colors such as yellow, red and orange will brighten a family room or child's playroom. Pastel shades of peach or teal will create a soothing, restful atmosphere in a master bedroom or sitting room.

A room with a northern exposure will feel warmer with a color scheme of yellow or coral, while a room with a southern exposure will appear cooler if it's done in blue or green.

The outside environment may also have a bearing on color selection. For example, a northern oceanside home with a gold, gray view of the sea during the winter months could be decorated in warm tones of salmon or red.

So what are you waiting for? Whether it's subtle or striking, there's a color palette out there with your name on it!

In Vogue Sensational Full Service Salon

In Vogue, no it's not the female singing sensation but it is a sensational full service beauty salon that is making its mark in the west valley area (Upland, Claremont, Pomona, Rancho Cucamonga, Fontana, Chino, Montclair) of the Inland Empire.

Upon arrival the chic, tri-level, beautifully laid out salon, with 9 stations, makes you know you are ready to be pampered to the enth' - degree.

Owner, Cheryl Geter, in business for 2 years in this location, has been a cosmetologist for 13 years. She has worked in Black Gold Trade Shows and has been a platform artist for Luster Products.

Geter, who will be going back to her maiden name Parks, lived in Montclair for years; however, she and her brother moved back into the childhood home in Pomona to cut costs and to preserve her late mother's investment. She has a son, Justin, who is 5 years old.

She is a graduate of Pomona High School and Citrus College Cosmetology School. Her first love was being a fashion designer. She was accepted at one of Los Angeles' top schools, but was unable to attend because she didn't have the funds, and because of her mother's business she could not qualify for grant. Geter has taken her strong points and been successful in her field.

"Owning a salon is a learning experience," she said. "I found I have to develop a team, to be successful. She says many in the beauty business have a problem of supporting each other. Geter believes we shouldn't cut each other's throats but work together like poeple of other races. She is offering booth rental to anyone who would like to be a part of making In Vogue one of the best salons in the Inland Empire.

Owner, Cheryl Geter, makes an appointment for a client.

Cheryl Geter styles client, Denise White's, hair.

Donte' Daily, hairstylist.

Loveland Reserves Front Row Seat For Parks

Rosa Parks, "Mother of the Modern Day Civil Rights Movement" in America, will speak at Loveland Church, 13500 Victoria in Rancho Cucamonga, at the 11:00am worship service on Sunday, February 7th. Her inspiring life story and message to young adults to "utilize their potential for positive change," is an encouragement to people everywhere she goes.

Mrs. Parks' refusal to sur-

Rosa Parks

render her seat to a white male passenger on a Montgomery,

Alabama bus on December 1, 1955 triggered a protest that changed the course of American history. It is through that protest that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. emerged to national prominence.

Mrs. Parks has received ten honorary doctorate degrees, hundreds of plaques, certificates, citations, awards and keys to various cities. At the age of 80, she continues to travel around the country, accepting speaking engagements for grade schools, colleges, universities, and national organizations.

Since 1987, she has headed the Rosa and Raymond Parks

Institute for Self Development. It is designed to motivate and direct the "average" student not targeted by other programs to achieve their highest potential. Rosa Parks is a symbol to all Americans to remain free; and is a walking and talking example of Loveland's vision to "maximize lives for triumphant living."

Reform Jews Urge Clinton And Congress
To Give High Priority To America's Urban Crisis

The movement of Reform Judaism has called on President Clinton and its own congregations to give the nation's urban crisis "high priority" on the national agenda.

Deploing "the continuing decay and deterioration of our urban communities, increasing violence, and growing despair of families," the UAHC urged its 860 member-synagogues to join with other community groups in programs aimed at "rebuilding our cities and restoring hope and opportunity."

The UAHC is the central body of Reform Judaism in North America, representing an estimated 1.3 million Jews in the U.S. and Canada.

In a resolution adopted by its policy-making board of trustees, the Reform Jewish group called for "active participation" in interfaith and interracial coalitions to address such urban problems as crime, violence, illicit drugs, illiteracy, family breakdown, unwanted teenage pregnancies and unemployment.

"A sense of individual and family responsibility for the plight of our inner cities has alarmingly decreased," the UAHC leaders said "Too many of our congregations that have left the cities no longer feel responsibility or connection to urban problems. We cannot, however, separate ourselves from these problems. Those in the cities, those who have left, and those who depend on the cities for their livelihood all share a common community with its challenges and its future."

consequences for chores or rules not being followed?

Anonymous, San Bernardino, CA

Answer: Agreement is the key to achievement when it comes to accomplishing anything within a household. Amos 3:3 says, "how can two walk together except they be in agreement?" My wife and I discuss the importance of family responsibility and awareness with our kids. Chores are part of what keeps a house clean, safe, and happy. We teach our kids that everyone has a responsibility to contribute to the success of our home. Chores are part of life. We also are very active working around the house, therefore, our kids see that chores are a part of everyone's life.

Our kids have a written day by day (except Sunday) list of chores to be accomplished. We give them what they can handle. They receive an allowance at the end of the week. If they don't do their chores they don't get their allowance until all their chores are completed. We do not allow our kids not do chores. If you want to eat and enjoy home sweet home, you must do your part to contribute to our happy home - chores.

If you have a question that you would like answered, write: Dr. Reginald L. Woods, Life Changing Ministries, P. O. Box 9778, San Bernardino, CA 92427-9778.

Finally, We Get To See Mickey's House

By BILLY JOHNSON, JR.

The homes of Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse and Goofy were made visible to the public last week at Disneyland.

I say made visible because according to Disneyland officials, Toontown (the place Mickey has lived since 1928) has always been at the park. Think about it. Mickey and the Disney crew had to live somewhere all these years.

Fortunately, Mickey and his friends have decided that it was time to share their secret with the world.

At the inauguration ceremony held at the park in Anaheim last week, Judge Harry Stone, from Night Court, led the honorary Toontown citizens in the Toontown oath. Mostly comprised of members of the media, the entire group had to take their fist and place them on opposite ends of their head (resembling Mickey Mouse ears) as they repeated the oath. As part of the oath, we all swore to never swear, to always smile and most importantly to act silly. Not bad huh?

It's been at least 10 years since Disneyland opened a new land, so this new addition is expected to cause quite a stir with Disneyland guests.

Toontown's six main attractions will help serve as an overflow area when Disneyland nears its peak. The attractions are:

Mickey's House - Guests can finally have a look at Mickey's house. Guests will see his laundry room, Pluto's doghouse, Mickey's backyard garden and more.

Minnie's House - Next door to Mickey's house, Minnie's is pink and purple decorated with hearts. Guests can take a listen to her answering machines messages, smell her perfume and take a peak in her refrigerator.

Donald's Boat "Miss Daisy" - Miss Daisy provides the thrill of a dream school yard playground. The boat features a periscope, whistle, bell, fog horns a spiral slide from the upper deck and a climbing net.

Goofy's Bounce House - How else would Goofy spend his evenings? Complete with bounceable furniture, walls, fireplace and floors, guests can have a bouncing good time.

Chip 'n Dale Tree Slide and Acorn Crawl - Thousands of acorns make up the winter food supply for the chipmunks, but for kids, it's an acorn sandbox.

Their wooden home is also complete with two slides and a spiral staircase.

lastly, Gadget's Go Coaster - This mini Go Coaster is probably the main highlight of Toontown.

Onyx Kicks Loud, Angry Rap Lyrics

WINDOW SHOPPIN'
guide to new black music
BY BILLY JOHNSON JR.

Loud. Mad. Furious. And more loud.

I am Master Jay's new hard core rap group, Onyx, takes their rapping to heart. Their image is based on being mad about society's problems. So you won't find these four brothas grinning on their album cover, instead you will find a mad face because as group member Sticky Fingers says "It ain't nothing to be happy about."

When I recently spoke to Sticky Fingers, Suave, Big D.S. and Fredo by phone, the guys were on fire as they answered my questions about their album and their rough image. I literally had to hold the phone a few inches away from my ear. They were yelling. It was comedy.

Their debut single "Throw Ya Guns [in the air]" gives you a pretty good taste of the flava of their album Bacdafup. With this album title, the fellas are telling non believers, perpetrators and the whole nine to simply back off, to say it nicely.

When Jam Master Jay laid the music tracks, he did not sleep on the fellas. The music is nice. But when I told the fellas that the music was mellow, Big D.S. interjected that the music was not mellow. He said, "It's for the jeeps." True enough, it will do wonders for your systems.

It's hard trying to define/describe their rap delivery, but if you can image a hardcore rap group with as much energy as a wild screaming rock band, you will have a good feel for Onyx.

Though the brothas are now working with Jam Master Jay, a few years back they were trying to come up on Profile Records. But as Sticky Fingers tells it, "When we were on Profile, our style was totally different. We had a country style. But we went through a lot of problems as far as business wise. So that's why our whole outlook on everything changed."

Since their days at Profile the fellas have developed a serious attitude but see their anger as being realistic. "We're trying to help young Black youth to stand up and have some backbone. You gotta be prepared for the worse of all times cause you don't know what the future has in store for you" according to Fredo.

Parade Welcomes McKnight

Law," "Hardy Hall," "227," "Moonlighting," "Benson," "Sonny Spoon" (recurring), "Kojak," "Webster," "Hill Street Blues" and "Dynasty" to name a few. McKnight has also been in several feature films.

ONYX members (l to r): Suave, Big D.S., Sticky Fingers and Fredo are the third group to sign with Jam Master Jay's Record Label, JMJ.

Chess Club Teaches Youth To Think

By ALESIA BROWN

Award ceremonies were held recently for youth at the Stratton Community Center Chess Club in Riverside. The Chess Club held an eight game, double elimination tournament. The top three finishers were Nathan Smith age 13 (3rd), Rebecca Jones age 13 (2nd) and the first place finisher, Dion Campbell age 11. Dion's prizes included a trophy, a marble chess set, an am/fm cassette player. Dion says winning "feels good" and credits his success to a lot of practicing at home on a nintendo "chess master" program, as well as, with his dad, brother and sister.

The Stratton Chess Club was founded by it's current director, Joe Neale Jr. Before the Chess Club began, Neale noted that all programs of the Community Center were athletics oriented and began a chess club at the request of center director Jeanie Williams. The important advantage to having a chess club is that it teaches the kids to have confidence in their ability to think, as well as, run and jump" says Neale.

The chess club has operated for six years amassed an impressive list of corporate sponsors that provide incentive awards to club members including:

Sizzler, McDonalds, KFC, Church's, So Cal Cinema, Edward Theatre, U.A. Theatre, Carl's Jr., Radio Shack, D'Elias Grinders, Wienerschnitzel, King's Table, I-HOP, Shakey's Pizza, Thrifty's and Pizza Hut. "All prizes are earned" to develop a consistent work ethic. Prominently displayed at the awards ceremony was an 18-speed bicycle which shall be the grand prize for the next tournament slated for April.

Neale is assisted by Paul Moore Jr. (Assistant Club Director) and Thurmond Howard Jr. a volunteer instructor. For additional information on the Stratton Chess Club call (909) 782-5355

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives . . . also knows where it goes"

What You Need, Is What You Get

Dear Readers: I recently ran a contest, "All I really need is..." and asked that you explain how satisfying your need would benefit your future. Among those selected as the winning entries are the following. They need no explanation for they stand on their own merits.

"All I really need is a set of encyclopedias for me and my sister. My mom and dad do their best to take care of us, but we don't have a lot of money. If we could get these books, we could use them for school reports and stuff. We can't always go to the library for books because we never have much gas in the car. My dad has to save it to go to work. We could also use the encyclopedias to read when there is nothing good on TV. We could learn all kinds of stuff. And we would never get too big to use them. My mom and dad could use them too, if they wanted to, that would be okay with us. I hope I win your contest real bad so we can get these books."

W. G. ... Tacoma, WA

"All I really need is... an abortion? No. Pity? No. What I need is courage to trust God that this change in my life will work out. I'm happily married with three children ages 12, 10 and 7. We live on a very modest income. This week, at age 42, I found out that I'm pregnant. I believe if I seek God for the courage I need to face this unexpected pregnancy that He will give it to me. I also believe that this child will be a blessing even though I can't see it right now."

Mrs. S. H. ... Boone, NC

"All I really need is a guarantee. Looking at the morning paper, oh what do I read? Another story of assault, rape, murder, or one that involves all three. While driving through town, oh what do I see? A homeless man sleeping among the leaves. Drinking coffee with friends, oh what do I hear? The story of a child, abused by a father, no one can please. Yes, all I really need is a guarantee—that all these sad and horrid things, we read, hear and see, will no longer be."

Mrs. C. E. ... Columbus, OH

Dear Mr. Ross: A little background. After my dad died in '87, my sister lived with my mother in the country 17 miles from the nearest large town. There are coyotes that are brave and come near the house. In the past, my sister has shot at them with her shotgun, to scare them away. A year ago they were in the yard so my sister loaded the gun and headed out to scare them off. She tripped and fell, and the gun went off killing my mother. Their only income was my mom's Social Security.

Since my mom's passing, my sister has gotten a minimum wage job at a hospital. After paying for the funeral, she was left with no money. The house has no running water and is heated by a wood burning stove. She is still emotionally distraught. I know that any money you could send her would not end her problems, but it would help make things a little better. We four brothers try to help her when we can, but all of us have families. I read your column in the Tulsa Thrifty Nickel and ask that you help my sister.

Mr. M. W. ... Bixby, OK

Dear Mr. W.: A tragic accident usually produces the "why" syndrome for the person whose hand caused it. "Why did this have to happen?" A person could dwell on that question until it makes them crazy because there is no apparent answer.

I'm in favor of giving your sister a new "why" question to dwell on and that is, "Why is Percy Ross helping me?" The answer to this question is easily answered—because I care. My check is on the way. May it be the beginning of good things for your sister.

Write Percy Ross, P.O. Box 39000-B, Minneapolis, MN 55439. Include your phone number and name of this publication. All letters are read. Only a few are answered in this column; others may be acknowledged privately.

Strong Backgrounds Made Slaves Appealing

Together We Can

Moreno Valley News
By Charles Ledbetter

Evidence shows that there is a model Black personality or psychological development pattern of Black Americans.

I think the Black developmental pattern of Black Americans is unique in that this is a group of people six or seven generations from slavery. These people had to develop some method of functioning for survival. In this new land, where they were brought against their will, they were not overwhelmed by their experiences in the New World because they came from a complex social and economic life. The people of West Africa were essentially agricultural and the land was considered so important that it was owned by the community rather than by the individual. The land was used by permission of what was called the master of the ground, who was the administrator of soil. The family was the basis of social life and organization.

There was evidence of social stratification, at the top nobility; next were the masses of workers; at the bottom were individuals who enjoyed little or, in many cases, no social life or political rights. However, everyone was regarded as important to the society and was respected for his ability to contribute to it. Poor people were accorded many privileges, and vertical mobility was possible.

With this background the Black person was brought to America and sold into slavery. In Africa, they had certain beliefs and these customs and practices were brought with them to this country, Freud, Jung, and other psychologists theorized on the various concepts of personality. Freud's concept being that the personality of a person is developed during the first three years of his life. Mowrer's concept being that man's personality is developed and expanded due to his confrontations with life, and as he overcomes one obstacle he goes on to the next until he becomes a mature actualizing man or woman. Without these confrontations, according to Mowrer, there is very little development of a personality.

The Black man's personality development is different. One factor being that the only books that he had access to were the Bible and books of the Uncle Remus or Brother Rabbit type. He learned to use these books to his advantage. The docile image of the characters in some of the books was adopted by many Black men and served to keep the Black man thought of in a subservient light. However, the Bible was used as a source of strength.

Beliefs and these customs and practices were brought with them to this country.

Music

Music and dancing played an important role in African culture, both as a part of religious ceremonies and as recreational activities. African music is complex in scale and rhythm, with arrangements usually featuring responsive choral patterns. Music was and still is used as a source of expression. It tells the story of innerfeelings of the Black man, whether that feeling is good or bad.

Slave Revolts

One of the persistent American myths concerning the Negro slave is that he did nothing to protest his enslavement. Although no single slave revolt succeeded, slave communities never lacked the threat of revolt. American History is marked by a series of slave revolts. Between 1668 and 1864, at least a hundred and nine separate revolts occurred on land, while between 1699 and 1845, fifty five revolts took place on slave ships at sea.

Many variables, too numerous to list, have formulated the Black personality. This group of people who lived in a land that was theirs was brought to a country that was to later use them as slaves. The book that did the most, in fact was the main factor in helping the Black man to survive, was the Bible. And now some of the people who relied upon these teachings in a time of need are rejecting the teaching. Some say it was used to make the slaves contented in slavery. They contend that the teaching of love and forgiveness in the Bible served not only as a source of strength, but also as a means of keeping the slave docile. Nothing is further from the truth. Historically every time man has succeeded in obtaining what he calls happiness, it brings about a condition that is not conducive to the welfare of the total society, and especially the Black society. This is another reason Black psychologists are of vital important to the Black culture.

The Black Norm

It has been historically noted that it is necessary for a Black man in America to develop a profound distrust of his white fellow citizens and of the nations. He must cushion himself against being cheated, slandered, humiliated, and outright mistreated by the official representatives of society. If he does not protect himself, he will live a life of such pain and shock, as to find life itself unbearable. For his own survival, he must develop culture in which every white man is a potential enemy unless proven otherwise and every social system is set against him unless he personally finds out differently.

Every Black man in America has suffered such injury as to be realistically sad about the hurt done him. He, however, must live in spite of the hurt and so he learns to know his tormentor exceedingly well. He develops a sadness and intimacy with misery which has become a characteristic of Black Americans.

He can never quite respect laws which have no respect for him, and laws designed to protect white men are viewed as white men laws. To break another man's law may be inconvenient if one is caught and punished, but it can never have the moral consequences involved in breaking one's own law. The results may be described as cultural antisocialism, but it is simply an accurate reading of one's environment - a gift Black people have developed to a high degree, to keep alive.

These and related traits are simply adaptive devices developed in response to a peculiar environment. They are no more pathological than the compulsive manner in which a pilot checks his aircraft. They are no more pathological than other adaptive devices. They represent normal devices for "making it" in America, and clinicians who are interested in logical functioning of Black people must get acquainted with this body of character traits which we call the black norm. It is a normal complement of psychological devices, and to find the amount of sickness a Black man has, one must first total all that appears to represent illness and then subtract the black norm. What remains is illness and a proper subject for therapeutic endeavor. To regard the black norm as pathological and attempting to remove such traits by treatment would be like analyzing away a hunter's cunning or a businessman's prudence. This is the total of characteristics essential to life for Black men in America.

Unsuper Bills get roped by Cowboy's and its (turn) over: The Cowboys stamped, roped and confused this unsuper herd of Buffaloes into a record 9 turnovers, on their way to a 52-17 corralling, in Super Bowl XXVII at the Rose Bowl. The question that kept dancing in my head as I sat their in puzzled confusion witnessing the young and restless Boys continually turn the AFC Champion Bills over on their backs - feet tied up pointing straight to the sky - is how can Buffalo appear at the NFL's big cabaret and enact 9 turnovers and turn over literally, as in on their backs?

The Cowboys' just flat out rode over, around, under and between the superless Bills, as they galloped their way to touch down, after touch down, after touch down.

These were the same buffaloes who beat two of the NFC's best teams - San Francisco & New Orleans - during the regular season, and most likely will have 5 men from this team inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame at the close of their careers.

I hate to say this, but maybe they swallowed a pizza before and during the game. How else do you figure? I concur the these roped-up Buffaloes.

I guess its time for these hornless Buffaloes to mosey out to pasture, with yet another Super Bowl disaster trailing them. In case you haven't been counting, that's three straight spankings their rawhides have absorbed. Please don't win the AFC again next year, OK fellows!

What about dem dare Cowboys? Well all they did was conduct their own personal rodeo in front of 98,374 spectators in the Rose Bowl and a world wide viewing audience. The Boys promptly rode ruff shot over an - on paper - evenly matched and playoff seasoned team.

What's next for the young and restless Boys? The rodeo circuit? Another NFL title? Whatever - they have 'made the grade' and graduated to NFL champion.

I asked Dallas Pro Bowl receiver Michael Irvin if he thought they would beat the Bills that convincingly, and he responded: "No I am not surprised at all. We have one of the best finishes in the game. Coach Johnson has stressed to us to play hard and stay on them and that's what we did."

When asked about Super Bowl MVP Troy Aikman, Irvin joyfully injected: "Troy is not hurried out there, he is relaxed, but best of all he is young like me. I am so glad to be on a team with a young and good QB my age."

So much for the young and restless Boys, it's time to amend that to the confident and true Boys.

Will they be back next year? Their ownership feels pretty good about their chances.

Dallas' embattled, but now adorned owner, Jerry Jones continuity.

Yo Cowboys - sweets to the sweet. Savior that ride back to the range, because you seized the moment with quick opportunistic strikes and relentless pressure. You out did yourselves. Watch out NFL - these Boys are back in the saddle and appear poised to stay awhile.

Bye, bye prediction for a competitive game and so long to my hunch that Humanism would prevail for a twice vanquished AFC Champion. I suppose this is the time of the confident and true, and the Cowboys definitely fit into that philosophy of life and football.

Ride off into the sunset Boys, with visions of spattered, roped, tied and defeated NFL opponents in the upcoming season.

The Young and Restless Boys have 'made the grade' to confident and true Champions.....

Bowl XII. Who made the first toss.....

Super Symbol: After conversing with the players all week, there is one thing that stands out, the ring.

Almost every player says - when dreaming about a Super Bowl victory - I want that ring on my finger.

Marv Flemming says, "The ring is the thing. It's comparable to winning an Oscar - it's the best." This guy should know; he is the owner of four Super Bowl championship rings.

Even Miami Dolphins' coach Don Shula, said of the rings, "It's one of the greatest motivating factors in winning a Super Bowl."

I guess the ring is the thing. It is the external since of accomplishment that shows the world a champion and no doubt has become a universal symbol of achievement.

I must admit, I sometimes envisioned the super symbol on my finger, but I always awake before I can take it off and put it in my drawer.....

Super Relevant: I may have wrote give me excess of it, but I abdicate to the Super Bowl Experience. The NFL did themselves well this go round. They left some money in the community and assisted worthy causes.

The following are just a few:

*The first NFL sponsored Youth Education Training (YET) is being developed in Compton.

*L.A.'s youngsters participated in the Better Educated Students for Tomorrow (BEST) competition at the NFL Experience.

*The gloved one performance at half the game will support Jackson's Heal The World Foundation. The Gloved one said, "I can not think of a better way to spread the message of peace than by working with the NFL and being a part of Super Bowl XXVII."

*Garth Brooks' noble contribution to a Special South Central Los Angeles Project and the NFL honorably match the funds.

*NFL doing their environmental part, with the largest stadium recycling program ever undertaken

*The NFL's Teachers of the Month and Year program is movement in the right direction

*The Taste Of NFL was a $125 per person affair, where National Chefs teamed up with NFL Alumni Greats to serve up a Super Bowl of taste and fun. Share Our Strength and local hunger relief programs I Los Angeles benefited.....

*And now for the NFL Experience Theme Park. I could write a whole book on that. I will tell you I went there to write about the park and ended up reliving my old football days and participating in many of the venues, I might add, I fared pretty well in some of them too.....

Trivia Question Answer: Red Grange performed the first coin toss. The act was accomplished by the game referee for Super Bowls I through XI.....

Cowboy's defense shuts down the Bills.

Boys' are a superior team, but 35 points better, no way.

So once again, what's the deal with the Bills? A super psychological blockage maybe? Everything that can go wrong to a football team, happened to

Bill Would Register Repair Shops For Fraud

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)

Requiring auto repair shops to register would give the state a way to cut down on the more than 33,000 repair-fraud complaints received each year, Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford said.

Crawford said Wednesday that about 30,000 Floridians a year call the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and more than 3,000 file written complaints about overcharges, unauthorized and unnecessary repairs, poor quality and charges for repairs never made.

Though there are many good facilities, he told a news conference at a Tallahassee brake shop, "The bad apples are costing Florida residents and visitors hundreds of millions of dollars."

The legislation's sponsors, Peter Weinstein, D-Coral Springs, and Donald Sullivan, R-Seminole, along with House sponsor Luis Rojas, R-Hialeah, also spoke amid the clang of tools.

Shop owner Charles Elder, a member and past president of the Florida Automotive Service Association, said the bill would improve the repair industry's image.

"There are always individuals that tarnish the name and professionalism of everybody else," Elder said.

Auto repair and maintenance costs statewide neared $4 billion, averaging about $701 per household, in 1992, Crawford said.

The department has responded to consumer complaints in the past by taking criminal action. In September, six employees of Tallahassee Tire were sentenced on theft charges stemming from repair fraud.

One customer who had complained to the department about Tallahassee Tire, Diane Williamson of Tallahassee, told the news conference the shop pressured her to approve more than $400 in work that other shops, and the department, determined were unnecessary.

"They tried to make repairs that I didn't need even after I told them I was a single parent and couldn't afford it,"

Williamson said. "Then they tried to humiliate me in front of other customers saying I was not a good parent because my children were riding in an unsafe vehicle."

The law says shops must give written estimates if work will exceed $50 and get approval before exceeding estimates by more than $10 or 10 percent, but customers now must go to court to get it enforced.

Registering the estimated 30,000 auto repair shops would give the department another avenue, allowing inspectors to examine a shop and its records, levy fines up to $1,000 per violation per day, and revoke a shop's registration, Crawford said.

Registration also would recognize good shops, Sullivan said. "It is a vote of confidence in those craftsmen who do the job well."

"What we are going to do is raise the standard for an industry which we feel is very important," Rojas said. "We register people who cut your hair in Florida."

Annual fees would be $25 for shops with 1-5 employees, $150 for 6-10 employees and $300 for 11 or more employees, not including bookkeepers or administrative personnel.

New York and California register auto repair shops. Michigan and Hawaii register shops and also require mechanics to be certified, the department said.

Other members of the auto service trade group backing the legislation include Star Import Service Inc., Gainesville; Vans Auto Body Inc., Jacksonville; Miami Springs Auto Service, Miami Springs; B&E Auto Body, Naples; Automotive One Inc., Longwood, and Crown Paint & Body, Pensacola, department officials said.

Chrysler Earns $356 Million In 4th Quarter

Chrysler Corp. is on a roll and analysts see no letup in sight.

The automaker said Thursday it earned $356 million in the fourth quarter, the third straight period that the rebounding automaker has outperformed Wall Street estimates.

Chrysler's earnings translated to $1.12 a share, surpassing an analysts' consensus prediction of 91 cents a share.

For the year, Chrysler earned $723 million, or $2.21 a share, more than a $1.5 billion reversal of its 1991 loss of $795 million, or $3.28 a share.

Whispers at that time about the automaker's ability to survive have turned into a chorus of praise for its new cars and trucks and the Japanese-style production methods it uses to build them.

"Nothing will slow this down," said Ted Shasta, an institutional investor with Loomis, Sayles & Co. in Boston. "The only adversary or enemy they have is themselves, if they blow a product. Even if the market stagnates, it doesn't matter because they're going to keep taking share."

The earnings also will contribute to the first profit-sharing checks for hourly Chrysler workers in four years.

The No. 3 U.S. automaker gained a full point of market share, from 12.4 percent to 13.4 percent in 1992, and analysts expect Chrysler will be the only Big Three automaker to show a 1992 profit.

General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. are expected to report 1992 losses next month, mostly due to poor sales in stagnating European economies.

Terms Of Final Negotiations From Claremont Students

Terms of Final Negotiations

1. Pomona College is committed to an ongoing search for a joint English Department/Intercollegiate Department of Black Studies position. Pomona also commits to publishing an audit as to how the search was conducted by March 1, 1993, and the college will make an appointment by this date. Should this not occur, the college will reopen the search with goal of making an appointment by May 1, 1993.

2. Scripps College will forward a recommendation to the first meeting of the Faculty Executive Committee in the Fall of 1993 that the tenure track search in Hispanic / Chicano Studies be authorized as a high-priority for 1993-94. The search process for the tenure track position can begin as early as summer 1993. For the 1993-

94 year, all Scripps College Chicano Studies courses will continue to be offered.

3. Pomona College will prepare by April 1, 1993 a written plan that will move the college toward a 50% increase in the number of tenure-track faculty of color over the next six years.

Pomona, Pitzer, and Harvey Mudd Colleges will develop a proposal in collaboration with faculty and students for an intercollegiate Asian-American Studies program and will complete a rough draft by May 1, 1993. Additional colleges will be allowed to join in the future.

Pitzer has committed to a long term strategy for enhancing diversity on campus; Pitzer will assign to its Minority Recruitment and Concerns Committee (MRCC) the task of developing a plan of action for increasing significantly its appointments of faculty of color to tenure track positions. Pitzer agrees to submit that plan of action to the College council by April 15, 1993 for discussion and action. Note: The suggestion was made that the name of the MRCC be changed.

Harvey Mudd College will issue a statement of intent to make a solid commitment to recruit students and candidates for faculty from historically marginalized groups in all searches by March 1, 1993.

Claremont McKenna College is in the midst of formulating a Master Plan Program in which issues of diversity will be fully addressed.

Scripps College is embarking on a strategic plan with measurable goals and a timetable to increase tenure track faculty of color.

TO THE PUBLIC OFFICE

will publish new faculty openings and positions in all campus funded newspapers for positions which become available after February 1, 1993. The five colleges will also publicize job talks.

5. The proposals made by Pomona College and Pitzer College regarding the creation of a Task Force to review and strengthen present procedures for student involvement in hiring, renewal, and promotion of faculty were confirmed. Voting members of the Task Force will include the dean of faculty or dean of students, one faculty member, and three students. Interested students may apply for service on this task force and selection will be by vote of the student body, i.e., those students who apply. The Task Force at Pomona College will be created by October 1, 1993; the Task Force at Pitzer College will submit its recommendations to the College Council by October 1, 1993.

Scripps College will form, by March 1, 1993 through appropriate channels, and ad hoc Task Force to strengthen present levels of student involvement in hiring, renewing, and tenuring of faculty. The Task Force will report its recommendations to the President by October 1, 1993. In addition, the voting members of the Task Force will include, at least, the Dean of Faculty or Dean of Students, one faculty member, and three students, all with equal voting power. The size of the voting committee may change as long as the members of the Task Force must be voted in by a larger group of interested students.

Claremont McKenna College reasserts that student evaluations are used as vital information for hiring and promotion decisions. The inclusion of students as voting participants of faculty committees is a matter of faculty governance. The appropriate faculty committee will be asked to consider methods for increasing student participation. In addition, CMC asserts that this issue is being discussed to some extent in the Master Planning process. CMC has not committed to forming a Task Force.

Harvey Mudd College has committed to pursuing the recommendations of outside consultants from the year 1992 and the appointed on-campus committee of that same year, both of whom were designated to enhance total student involvement. HMC will submit copies of the summary of their report. Subsequently, we will not hold Harvey Mudd College to creating a Task Force.

6. The Colleges have openly invited students to meet with appropriate personnel on each campus on a mutually convenient schedule.

7a. The Colleges affirm their commitment to increases in underrepresented, low-income

7b. Admission and financial aid offices at each individual college have agreed to meet with interested students from their own institutions to explain how affirmative action guidelines are being pursued. Such discussions would address strategies for attracting students of color and members of other historically under-represented groups as well as procedures for distributing financial aid resources. Each of the five colleges agrees that publicly available information with regard to general profiles regarding gender, race, ethnicity, and income will be provided.

8. It is agreed that any and all responsible parties will not prosecute the demonstrators in any way including, but not limited to, criminal, academic, or financial disciplinary action for all of the Claremont Colleges.

President Stanley agreed to allow a representative from the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and a designate of his choice to enter and inspect the premises in order to determine if a breach of security (including theft) or any vandalism of private property or files occurred. Upon verification that no breach of security or vandalism took place, President Stanley, his designate, and two representatives from the ACLU signed, indicating that all was in order and that the students will be granted the stated amnesty.

Letter From F/P reserve this for Black males only? And I also found out that there has been no court date set, is this to give him a time to heal so no one will know that he was beat to the point that he lost control of his bowels? And what do you intend to do about it? I would like to know, or do you approve this kind of brutality?

I am asking for a full investigation of how this situation was handled, and that each one of the officers that were part of it be reprimanded to the fullest. My children are nervous wrecks because of what the witnessed here. Its not right, and I want something done about it.

Angrily submitted,

RHUBOTTOM FROM F/P

Cindy Pringle, spokesperson for Evans said the forum was held last week without incident with 85 people in attendance.

"Metzger was asked not to attend for personal safety reasons," she said. They found there was planned disruption.

When asked why Evans was not available to the press or community she said, he tried unsuccessfully to get in touch with Willie Clark, president of NAACP.

"The forum may be behind us but Rhubottom and Clark are looking into why Evans has not been heard from on the issue.

Steve McCarthy, Public Information Officer for the Chancellor office said each. President handles media differently.

"There is one president at Chico State College, who hasn't spoken to the press in three years. Press is up to them," he said.
